South Dakota Art Museum
Brookings, SD

Lakota Arts + Identities WORKSHOP

for more information
Center for American Indian Research & Native Studies
www.nativecairns.org
605+685+6484

Learn about Lakota history and culture. Experience hands-on engagement with traditional and contemporary Lakota art and objects from the museum's collection. Read selected excerpts from classics of Lakota literature. Create exhibits and classroom activities based upon the seminar's topics and themes.

Session topics include the origins and development of the Oceti Sakowin confederacy, Lakota history and culture, foundations of Lakota spirituality, Lakota star knowledge and winter counts, contemporary tribes and reservations, and Visual Thinking Strategies (VTS). We will explore these topics using multimedia, including art works, museum objects, photographs, readings, film and discussion.

17-19 June 2014

The workshop emphasizes the critical thinking required by the Common Core Standards, as well as approaches to integrating the content across the curriculum. Workshop instruction is based on collaboration and offers frequent interaction between presenters and participants.

"becoming possessed of a fitting philosophy and art, it was by them that Native man perpetuated his identity; stamped it into the history and soul of this country–made land and man one" (Luther Standing Bear, Lakota artist and author)

registration + form + registration + form + registration + form + registration + form

Name

Street

City, State

Zip Code

Email

registration + form + registration + form + registration + form + registration + form + registration + form

Registration Fee of $250 includes enrollment in Oceti Sakowin History & Culture seminar ($50), a copy of Oceti Sakowin Origins and Development handbook ($16), Flags of Tribes in South Dakota poster ($10), course packet of readings, Certificate of Completion, door prizes, and two workshop receptions. Participants are responsible for all other expenses.

College Credit can be earned by successfully completing this workshop. Enrollment fee for two hours of graduate or undergraduate credit is $90, which will be collected the first day of the workshop.

Enclose a $250 ($270 after 16 May 2014) check or money order payable to CAIRNS with the registration section of this form and mail to CAIRNS, PO Box 448, Martin, SD 57551.

+Limited spaces available

CAIRNS